This cinema was split into 3 screens in 1991
Located at the base of Mt. Shasta, the California Theatre in Dunsmuir was opened in 1926 by T & D Jr Enterprises.
The "California" vertical sign was originally used on the California (FOX) Theatre in San Jose. The 800-seat movie theater featured a Wurlitzer pipe organ (presently in Skagway, Alaska) and a vaudeville stage.

Most actors and actresses visited the theater on promotional tours. The list includes Clark Gable and Carol Lombard, Babe Ruth, The Marx Brothers, and many hundreds more.

Operated by the Naify family for over 30 years, the theater was run by various local families until 1991, when Steve Naify, grandson of James Naify (one of the original owners), bought the building and began restoration. Naify added two additional screens upstairs where the local Masonic Lodge had been conducting business for 69 years.

The building, as of December 5, 2001, has been closed for remodeling.

Contact Steve Naify at sncrdd@hotmail.com.

This theatre reopened June 26, 2005
