Quote from www.cinematreasures.org

Ah my hometown theatre. A beautiful site. To add on the info above, after closing as a Second Run Grindhouse showing Horror, Science Fiction and Kung Fu Movies (Triple Feature for 50 cents), they reopened the following year showing Triple X Porno Movies such as "Deep Throat" and "Behind The Green Door" which fortunately lasted under a year before showing Spanish Language Movies in 1975. That lasted until 1977 when it was restored as a Live Venue Theatre under a new name (Fox Center For The Performing Arts) which was a flop and reverted back to a Spanish Language Movie Theatre in 1979. They closed their doors for good in 1981 and with the exception of an occasional Concert and Wedding, It remained closed until 1996 when the City of Stockton leased the building. Last year(2000), the City bought the Fox from the owners and is spending a couple of million dollars restoring the Fox to its former glory. In addition to the concerts, The Fox shows old Classic Films of Yesteryear (1930's to 1960's) 6 times a year. Also The Fox Theatre And The Fox California Theatre are one and the same so you should consolidate the two on your website. The Official name is "FOX CALIFORNIA THEATRE".
